

The following document is a teaching resource available at www.MorrowGalpern.ca

© Paul Galpern, 2003
paul.galpern@utoronto.ca

Saved in Microsoft Word 2000 format.

BEWARE!

If you do not have this software or a later version on your computer, many of the layout features (tables and graphics) will not appear as intended.

Like all teaching resources it is a work in progress.
Permission is granted to use, alter and reproduce this resource for your own classroom.
For publication, please contact the author for permission.

Types of Asexual Reproduction

Pages in SciencePower 9

Organism	Kingdom	Description or picture of organism	Type of asexual reproduction	How does this sort of asexual reproduction work?
bacteria p. 29			binary fission
Amoeba p. 32			Mitotic Division
moulds p. 32-33			fragmentation
			budding
			spores
Planaria p.34			regeneration
Hydra p. 35			budding
strawberry p. 39			layering
apple tree p. 39			grafting
chrysanthemum p. 40			tissue culture	